

RULES – “BEVERAGE TENDER” CONTEST

- 1) First and foremost the project will be graded on “fit, form and function”.
 - a. FIT: How well does the “tender” hold the beverage and is it versatile to provide usage for various containers of similar size.
 - b. FORM: Use your imagination! Did your uniqueness in design and finish make your “tender” stand out above the rest
 - c. FUNCTION: How well does your “tender” perform in stability holding the containers, multiple use for other beverages (or other items which need transportation) and ease in cleaning and sanitizing. How easily is it carried and how well does it balance when in transit. It must carry either 6oz or 12oz cups or both!
- 2) Aesthetics and “theme” will carry a large part of the scoring. For Larry the Cable Guy, this means “how it looks”. This means painted or stained; metal, wood or plastic; is it pleasing to the eye? Is it something you really could bring home to mom?
- 3) Originality is a very strong point. Will it be a table top item or will it be free standing? Is it a single tray or tiered? Can it hold a pitcher as well as glasses? Is it designed strictly “kid friendly” (no beer)? Can it hold treats as well as beverages? Use your imagination and give us that “OH WOW” moment we love!
- 4) Name: Do you have a name for your creation? Naming gives it that much more character... Pretend it’s a puppy and give it a name that suits how it looks! Hmmmmm... Remember, though, many owners and their dogs begin to resemble one another after a while! In this case, it’s all in the eye of the “beer holder” and, of course, the time of night!
Because beer is heavy
- 5) Completed entries only will be graded. All projects must be fully completed and ready for “tending”!
- 6) Demonstration of carry will also be graded on three levels:
 - a. How well can it be carried with minimal spillage (for most of us that would refer to “alcohol abuse”)
 - i. Regular walking pace
 - ii. Hurried pace when you realize it’s your turn up at bat!
 - b. How well does it sit on the table utilizing a minimal but comfortable area so it will not interfere with other activities that may or may not occur upon the table top. Remember, this is a family event!
- 7) Materials Cost: Cost is not for grading, we’re just nosey! Heck, maybe you could sell ‘em!

All entries must be placed on a table at event for judging by 4:00 pm until 5:50
Judging will take place at say 6:00 pm with prizes for the top three!

Have fun!!!!!!!

See you Captain Dan’s Days with your entry!
You’re limited only by your imagination...

Single Person Carry

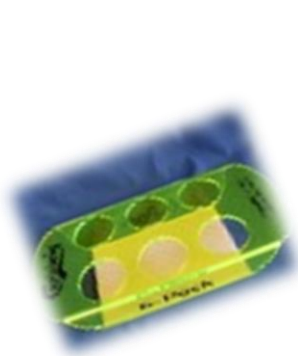

Picnic Pet Carry

Two Person Carry

The Old Milk Man (no, not Schwans) Carrier

Simplicity Carriers

Ooops... The latter is unacceptable although practiced some places in Wisconsin!

Safety Cone Carrier?

Think orange in the center...

Matrimonial Carrier...

Don't quote me but I think this is how it's done in the Ourada family...
